The DIMMER VIEW

Why Make Vandalism Popular?

There's something wrong with a system that releases youthful culprits from the toils of the law before the arresting officer can complete his report.

Yet that is what's happening in San Diego County.

Last week, two youths, 16 and 17 years of age, respectively, wreaked many thousands of dollars of damage on equipment and supplies at San Altos school, Golden Avenue school, and the Lemon Grove Masonic Temple.

The youths were apprehended in the Masonic Temple about midnight. They had some of the school stolen material on their persons. They were surprised by a group of law officers who caught them in the act of smashing jars of pickles, mustard, catsup and preserves on the floor of the Temple's kitchen.

They were taken to Juvenile Hall with a "hold" request from the sheriff's department.

Tuesday morning they were released without hearing or trial.

No question about guilt or innocence. No question about damage.

The County Probation department turned 'em loose.

They were back in Lemon Grove before the full and complete police report could be completed by the arresting officers.

The County Probation Department through a spokesman, Bernard Schwartz, Director of Juvenile Services, acknowledges that the youths were released but blames "lack of communications" for the failure to "hold."

He admitted that the communications breakdown was not the fault of the police.

"We are limited to a 48 hour hold at which time a petition must be filed," he said.

"We released them but we have not dropped the case," Schwartz said.

What's bad about such governmental operation is that youngsters know that a slap on the wrist is about the worst they'll get.

Many youngsters are aware that these culprits were released the morning after being caught red-handed. Kids know there is no penalty in defying the law, the cops or adults. They need not have respect for persons or property.

Many sub-agencies of the government, and the Probation Department is no exception, have contributed to the attitude of defiance. That's because many sub-agencies take full charge — legislative, judicial and executive powers have been taken by them.

What damage did these two youngsters do? Enough to make the blood of any law abiding, tax-paying citizen boil.

At San Altos school they broke windows, rifled desks and dumped contents on the floor, tore files apart, ransacked storage rooms and dumped kindergarten supplies, ankle deep on the floor, poured starch over all the office typewriters, pried ventilators open to get to keys for another storage room from which they took tape recorders, record players, microphones and other electronic gear. In the teachers' dining room they tore a Coke machine part. Then back to the kitchen where they dumped huge quantities of cocoa and marshmallow and other food supplies on the floor. They left, carrying all the loot that two young bucks could carry.

Just ask a teen-ager to do that much work at home!

Two nights later the same two broke into Golden Avenue school and tore the electronic time control clock off the wall, smashed typwriters on the floor, broke inside windows, smashed plaques and diplomas, punched holes in wall corkboards, destroyed all medical files for federal appropriations, stole stopwatches and paint brushes, and again carried away all the loot they could carry.

Later, that same night they broke into the Lemon Grove Masonic Temple and smashed wall clocks and all the framed plaques and certificates of the Temple, went into the kitchen and smashed glass containers of catsup, preserves, pickles, mustard and other food.

A nearby resident heard the noise and called the police as the youths were breaking the glass jars.

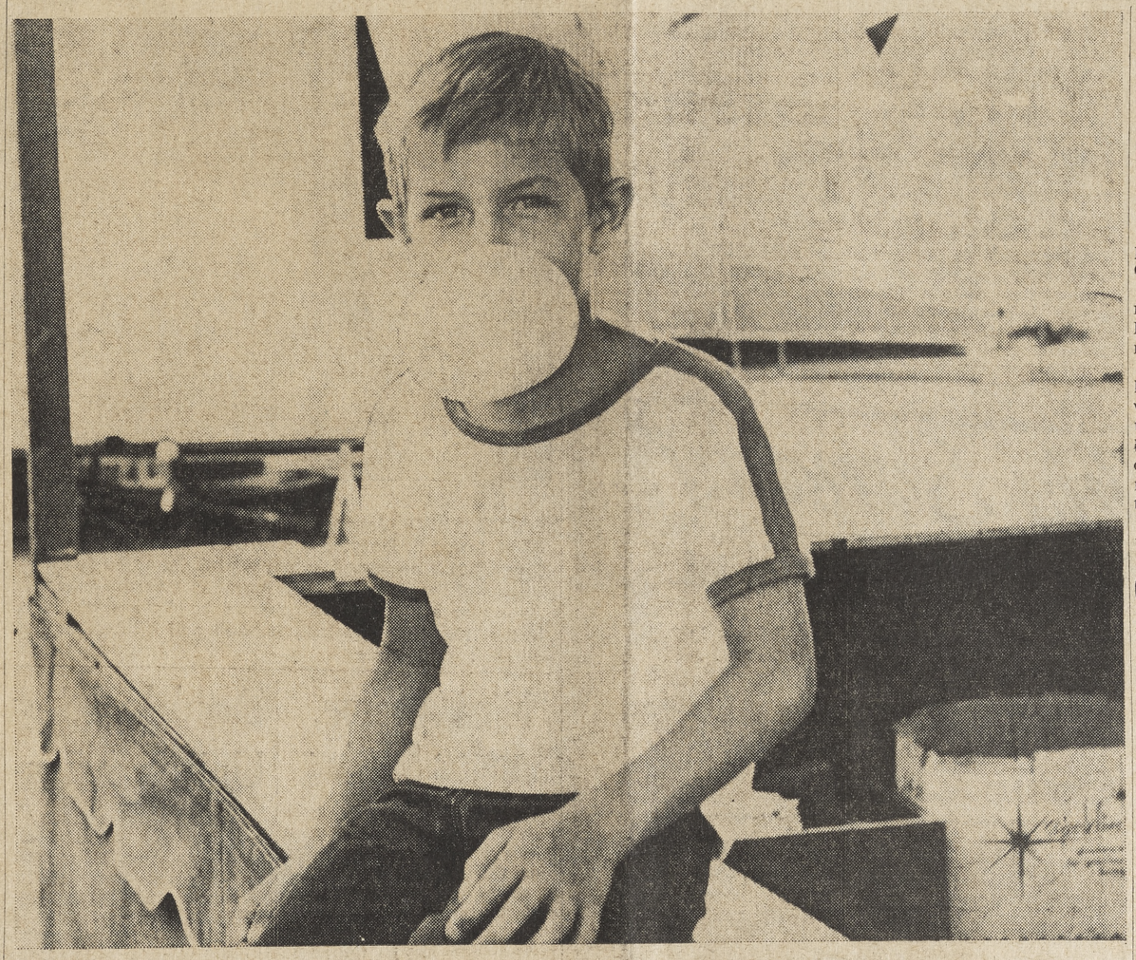
Five officers entered the building and arrested the youths at gunpoint.

They still had the school's stolen stop-watches on their persons.

They were taken to Juvenile Receiving Center early Sunday morning.

Tuesday morning they were released without hearing or trial!

Fire Protection Prospects Brighten



MOUTHFUL: Donald Burgess, 8, is shown as he sits on one of the counters that was set up as part of the annual carnival that stops each year at the Spring Valley Shopping Center.
Burgess, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Burgess of Spring Valley was on hand throughout the morning during clean up operations. The carnival was put on by the Monarch Pacific Shows. It closed Sunday night after a five night stop.
When asked if he was enjoying himself, even through the rides and stands were not in operation he said yes.

County Supervisors Indicate Support In Fire Chiefs' Plea

Lemon Grove and Spring Valley have moved a step closer to gaining additional fire protection.

The County Board of Supervisors have taken action to agree to give its full support and cooperation to the mutual aid program and radio communications network that has been proposed by the County Fire Chiefs' Association.

The move was made known recently at the La Mesa Fire Department Headquarters meeting.

At that time J. W. Colquhoun deputy county engineer was present at a meeting of the fire chiefs along with members of the Board of Directors of fire departments from communities in San Diego County to discuss the project.

Local representatives included Asst. Fire Chief Fred Dixon of the Lemon Grove department along with Russell E. Rosenkotter, member of the Board of Directors of that department.

Representing Spring Valley at the meeting were Battalion Chief Daryel Stager and Richard Allen, sr., of the Board of Directors of the fire department.

Calquhoun said that the role of the County in the presentation is to provide one of many possible alternatives for a county-wide radio system.

The system would be for the use of all fire departments in the county, city, fire districts, State and Federal agencies who operate or may be requested to aid the area encompassed in the region.

The proposed system has been based on the following criteria. The County has a desire to assist the departments in technical area of radio communications with the administration of the system to be the responsibility of the agencies involved.

It also includes the implementation of coordinated zones or consideration for staffing of the control facilities that are not a part of the presentation.

They also want the system's design to be compatible for the use of Federal and state agencies of the county involved in the program.

The proposed system would include additional regions if and when necessary to be given frequency allocations as needed.

Standardization of equipment throughout the county would have to be the equipment of a single manufacturer. This would reduce maintenance.

Test equipment, parts inventory, technician familiarity along with change-out units for speed in service were given as the reason for the purchase of equipment from one maker.

A financing concept was also made known. A monthly lease purchase payment plan for the inducidual needs of a community fire department as well as mass purchasing power would work to the advantage of the county fire departments.

Spare mobil units for emergency situations that could be installed on a needed-anywhere basis was included in the presentation.

The proposed fire radio network would operate on a microwave system. The microwave unit is in operation by the county at the current time broadcasting to Public Works and other county agencies.

The cost of the system is near the $500,000 mark. This includes compulsory mountaintop equipment and other common-shared items to be used by all agencies.

Clarence L. Gish, president of the fire chief's association has requested that all fire departments along with their board of directors send written communication to the supervisors indicating their approval.

This approval would not mean that the particular department has signed any agreement. It is just an indicaion of their position for the program.

County Tax Rate Drops

The County tax rate has been reduced by two cents per $100 of assessed valuation in taxation for the 1968-69 period.

According to figures prepared by the County Auditor, the reduction will go from $2.39 down to $2.37.

Board Chairman Henry A. Boney estimated that the drop will come officially next week when the supervisors set the county tax rate.

It is the first reduction in the tax rate in county areas since 1964-65.

Boney credited approximately $4 million in budget cuts made by the Board as the primary factor in reducing the county taxes.

He said, "The Board members pledged to hold the line on spending in 1968-69 and that is exactly what we did."

Other factors affecting the tax rate included an 8.8% or $177 million overall increase in property assessments in San Diego County.

Also adding to the cut is a 13.8% increase in revenues to the county from sources other than the property tax.

"Chief Administrative Officer Fred Morey and his staff who serve as watch dogs for the County budget did an excellent job of developing new economies in County operations this year," Boney said.

Supervisor Robert C. Dent said, "We told the people not only in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley, but throughout the entire county that we would do our best to keep the tax rate down.

"I am very happy to see now that we not only are going to keep it down by that we are going to be able to cut the rate by two cents."

At the same time that the county tax reduction was made known, the San Diego City Council moved to reduce tax rates there by 17.1 cents.

The Supervisors trimmed the county budget by soe $4 million prior to passing the new bill for county funds and expenditures.

The total budget for the 1968-69 year for the county runs around $159 million.

$17 Million Project Launched

San Diego State has launched a $17 million major two-part construction project that wil alter extensively and permanently the campus' physical appearance and its pattern of student activity.

It will also cause an extenthe campus' traffic flow.

The double project includes: The Construction of a 309,000 square foot library at the heart of the campus, and repair of the North portion of the campus Main Mall.

Underground seepage has caused subsidence and cracking of the concrete surface on the Main Mall.

When the library has been completed, the campus face will have been recast in accordance with blue prints of a sweeping master plan originated in 1961.

The plan, devised by Frank L. Hope & Associates, San Diego Architects, envisions a functional campus able to accommodate 28,000 students. This population is expected by 1972.

The plan sees the campus organized into what architects term a "central academic core" plan. There is a series of concentric circles like those of a target.

Service buildings, including administration and medical fasive, temporary disruption of cilities, are eventually situated

Officials Set Damage At $7,000 In Grove Schools Vandalism Case

An official estimate of $7,000 has been given as the amount of damage incurred at the San Altos School and the Golden Ave. Elementary School.

Paul Reynolds, asst. superintendent of Elementary Schools in Lemon Grove gave the estimate.

San Altos School was vandalized on Aug. 8 while the Golden Ave. School was ran sacked on Aug. 10. Two youths a 16-year-old, and a 17-year-old are suspects in the case.

Reynolds said that the typewriters that had been thrown about, in both buildings, are, in most cases beyond repair. They will have to be replaced.

He said that the communications system in the Golden Ave. school may also have to be replaced. The value of replacement would run more than $2,000.

Heavy glass damage was done throughout both schools. The district is not covered by insurance for most of the glass damage.

Reynolds said that the district is insured for around 90% of the loss.

The two youths who are suspects, were caught at the Lemon Grove Masonic Hall on Aug. 10 as they were in the process eof ransacking the kitchen area in that building.

They were released within 48 hours after being taken to Juvenile Hall. Both are slated for a hearing in the near future.

The two young suspects had thrown books, papers, supplies. office machines and anything in reach on the floors.

In the San Altos School floor tile may have to be replaced after duplicating fluid and other liquids were thrown on the floor.

Clocks were pulled out of their sockets in the walls and smashed. Hammers were used in many instances to break or punch holes in the walls.

In the food storage area, cans were opened and their contents were dumped out on the floor. Some of the contents of the cans were used on the cash register in the school cafeteria.

Reynolds said that this is the first time that the elementary school district had ever been hit by vandals in such a manner.

More than 200 man-hours of labor were used to clean up the San Altos School. A note was found in one of the damaged typewriters saying, "Peace and love forever."

$2 Million Bid Called For Route 94 Project

The Calif. Division of Highways has called for $2 million in bids for construction on 8 miles of State Route 94 Freeway between Interstate 5 in San Diego and Waite dr., near Lemon Grove.

District Engineer Jacob Dekema said that the major part of the project will be the widening of Route 94 from six to eight lanes between Home ave., and Waite.

Also included in this section will be the widening of Federal blvd., College ave., Mass. ave., and Waite dr. undercrossings.

The contract also includes provisions for addition motorists safety by call for the installation of a cable median barrier between Interstate 5 and Home ave.

A metal beam median barrier between Home ave. and Waite dr. is also included in the project. Signing and lighting will be revised and lights will be mounted on breakaway bases.

The existing facilities carry more than 5,600 vehicles in one direction during peak hours, causing extreme congestion.

The bids, will be opened in Los Angeles on October 3. If found to be satisfactory, work could begin within 30 days.

Completion of the projects is expected to be made by next summer.

Cone-Nosed Bugs Plague Foothills Area Residents

The San Diego Department of Public Health has blamed a rash of calls it has received from Foothills residents on cone-nosed bugs. Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health, said a small flurry of complaints about the bugs is not unusual in warm weather.

The cone-nosed bug is a kind of second cousin to the bed bug. It bites, painlessly. It's the same insect that is called the "kissing bug."

Dr. Askew said persons who are bitten by cone-nosed bugs a number of times become sensitized to them and "have quite a reaction" to the bug's bite. He said the reaction can involve itching of the scalp, palms and soles as well as swelling at the point of the bite.

"People are usually bitten by the cone-nosed bug while asleep," Dr. Askew said. "When they wake up and become aware of their reaction, they look around to see what bit thm and often find a cone-nosed bug in the bedding."

The cone-nose bug is grayish black, about half an inch long and has a beak that curves downward under its body.

Dr. Askew said prompt medical treatment is effective in minimizing a person's reaction to the bite of the cone-nosed bug. He advised anyone sensitive to insect bites to call a physician if a severe reaction begins to develop after being bitten.

Recent complaints of bites by cone-nosed bugs have come from the Suncrest, La Cresta and Alpine area, Dr. Askew said. He added that a few calls about the bugs are received from this area by the health department every summer.

A year ago, a large number of calls came in from Valley Center when a brush fire burned throught the foothills in that area. The health department has also received complaints of cone-nosed bugs from the Black Mountain and Lake Murray areas.

"These insects normally live on wood rates," Dr. Askew said, "just as fleas might do. The insects appear to be more active in warm weather, when they occasionally find their way into rural homes.

"As building continues to expand in the foothill areas east of El Cajon, we can expect the disruption of more wood rat nests, and the movement of more cone-nosed bugs into homes." Dr. Askew added that the insects "are apparently attracted by light."

He said the con-nosed bugs have not caused any complaints in the city.

Property Tax Average Shows Decrease Here

The average property tax rate in San Diego County in the 1967-8 year was $8.87 per $100 of assessed value, a drop of ten cents, the State Board of Equalization reported.

"The statewide average rose only six cents above the fiscal 1967 year to $8.90, a sharp slackening from the 15-30 cent hikes in recent years," Chairman Richard Nevins said.

Although total levies from the property tax reached a record $4.1 billion in California in the past fiscal year, higher assessments and new local government revenues slowed the tax rate increase.

"An additional $223 million in school aid from the state, $30 million in cigarette taxes, and $36 million more in sales taxes helped local government in holding down tax rates," Nevin,s who represents South-

Happy Birthday To Newspaper

The LEMON GROVE REVIEW is 20 years old this week. It was started as an offshoot of a La Mesa newspaper in 1948 when Lemon Grove had a population of less than 6,000; few schools, ,practically no paved roads and a business district centered at the intersection of Imperial and Broadway.

Since that time the REVIEW has won many state and county awards for editorial acuity.

A few years ago the newspaper employed three people. Today 15 are employed.

Two Laymen Are Church Speakers

At the 11 a.m. service at Spring Valley Friends Community Church, this coming Sunday, Aug. 25, two of the laymen, Murray Tenney and Charles Scott, will be speaking.

Laymen have been filling the pulpit since Rev. Lewis Swander resigned to take on new duties in Oregon. It is expected a new pastor will be here the first part of September.

The youth of the church have been busy painting and cleaning the yard, in preparation for the new pastor.

Californians smoke more than the residents of any other state, especially the women and young people.

POSTER CHILD: Jimmy Forsythe, 8, center, son of Navy Chief James E. Forsythe (right), and his wife (left) of San Diego, has been named 1968 Poster Child of the San Diego Chaper of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation. Jimmy at a casual look presents a glowing picture of health. He plays baseball, football and kickball as hard and fast as anyone.

The youngster is a victim of the deadly, incurable cystic fibrosis. The disease strikes the lungs and digestive system.

Chapter officials along with volunteers are seeking $60,000 through the month of Sept. in order to help fight the disease that strikes one out of every 1,000 children.

It is second only to cancer as a cause of death to children.

Hardison's Telespanish

What is the difference between "Hablar" and "hablare?" The first word means "to speak" and the second word means "I shall speak." That is right, all we have to do is add the letter "e" to the infinitive "hablar" and we create the first person singular of the future tense.

An example of a phrase in the future tense could be "Hablare manana." which means "I shall speak tomorrow." The expression "Me gusta hablar." means "I like to speak."

Future tense for the first person is formed by adding "e" to most verbs. Thus, "estar" may be converted to "estare" (I shall be.). A more complete example would be "Yo estare aqui manana." for "I will be here tomorrow."

The plural for the first person singular may be formed by adding "emos" to the infinitive form of the verb. Thus we may say "Hablaremos con el." for "We shall speak with him." or "Estaremos aqui." for "We shall be here."

More examples of the future tense may be made with the infinitives "vivir" and "lavar." We may say "Vivire aqui." for "I shall live here." or "Lavare todos los dias." for "I shall wash every day."

See how many verbs you can apply the future tense to by adding the letters "e" and "emos" to the end of the infinitive form. You can practice some future forms in the following phrases when you dial 276-2762 on your telephone.

Operation Minus 21 Grows

"Operation Minus 21," a campaign sponsored by the State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control encouraging minors to observe laws pertaining to alcoholic beverages, is gaining acceptance — and momentum — throughout the state.

Department Director Edward J. Kirby said the program, launched last May with the publication of 450,000 4-page leaflets titled "Stop and Think Before You Drink," has received excellent response from the general public as well as from school officials, state legislators, enforcement agencies, city and county officers, and from minors themselves.

Kirby said the leaflet, which spells out the alcoholic beverage regulations including those provisions which make it unlawful for a minor to possess, purchase or consume alcoholic beverages, is being distributed to high school and junior college students and to enforcement agencies.

He said one school district superintendent has requested 32,000 copies, while a single police department is distributing 11,000 copies.

"The campaign," Kirby said, "is designed to help minors understand the law and the consequences of the purchase, possession or consumption of alcoholic beverages.

The folder spells out the laws and also details the possible penalties for violators, including fines, loss of driver's license and decreased employment opportunities."

Concurrent with distribution of the leaflet, Department officials and fieldmen are contacting education leaders, civic and community organizations to further explain and promote the campaign.

"Operation Minus 21," according to Kirby, has received strong endorsement, as well as financial and promotional support, from the United States Brewers Assn. and the California Brewers Assn.

Cajon Speedway Auto Racing Highlights

Bill Bramley of Spring Valley moved into the winners circle for the first time this year at Cajon Speedway Saturday night as he pulled out with a quick lead to top the hot dogs in the 30 lap main event.

Bramley moved out to a big lead in the first few laps after John Davis had tied up the pace for the first 8 laps. Bill Butts took over the number two slot when Davis spun out in the 9th lap.

Butts had his hands full with Russ Bullen as the two raced for second place, until the 15th lap when Butts spun out. Bramley was long gone by that time.

As Bullen pulled up on Bramley around the 20th lap, he blew an engine, to put him out of action. Bob Chambers and track leader Tex Kimbrell took up the lead but couldn't catch the power packed leader.

In the 22nd round, George Esau hit the planks causing the yellow caution flag to slow down the race, and give the second and third place drivers a crack at Bramley.

On the restart, Kimbrell and Chambers were in such a hurry to take over Bramley's position that Chambers spun out at the starting line.

Chambers went to the back of the pack. Shortly after that Kimbrell went into the wall.

Bucky Peralta who had moved up from 13th place into second was the only contender on Bramley's tail near the end and even he failed to come near the Spring Valley driver.

In the semi-main, Danny Brent of Santee won his third victory of the season. Bill Pearson just up from the limited division was pushing him hard.

This Saturday night super stocks will get under way at 8 p.m. with the trophy dash. Jim Hitt of Lemon Grove who holds down a firm fifth place will be faced by Jim Whitt who is in the sixth slot.

Pit Patter:

The field of cars grows stronger in mid season with Odie Robertson breaking the hold of the four top winners five weeks ago.

Vance Butler made the winner's circle and now Bill Bramley has come on slow up the top four big throttles.

The close struggle for second place sees Richard Whit, Bucky Peralta and Bill Butts within 150 points of each other.

Tex Kimbrell now holds a 948 point lead over the field with 10 races left in the season which ends October 26th.

One of the top three challengers must start a winning streak soon or count out any signs of the championship for this season. Bill Butts has been the most consistent winner of the trio but has had trouble after being involved in several wrecks.

Richard White has had trouble with the officials, while Bucky Peralta lost his car early in the season, but was able to take over Gary Schotts car and make a go at it.

WINNERS CIRCLE: Getting the flag with his first victory of the season at Cajon Speedway is Bill Bramley, (No. 47) of Spring Valley. Bramley won the 30 lap main event after moving out from second place in the race.

Bramley got off to a fast start and maintained his pace to victory throughout the main. Drivers John Davis, Bill Butts, Russ Bullen, Bob Chambers and Tex Kimbrell all, at one time or another throughout the race were near the Spring Valley man but couldn't get past him.

The top notch racer will be back in action again Saturday night at the Cajon Speedway going for a second victory. Tip off time for the event event is 8 p.m.

The local driver is currently in ninth place in league standings with a 1,844 point total. His car is powered by a 427 Studebaker. Starter Jim Paugh is shown as he drops the checkered flag for the victory. (Photo by Paul Runde) on the outer circle.

Classroom and laboratory buildings are found on intermediate circles. A major, university-type library is placed as the campus focal point in the center.

The location of the project at the campus center and its size — the total construction site occupies more than 800,000 square feet — will produce a major disruption of the campus traffic flow.

Perestrian traffic along the Mall will be rerouted. Persons heading toward the West Commons and Social Sciences Building on the Western part of the campus will walk behind the Dramatic Arts Building.

Persons heading for the Science complex on the north rim of the campus will be rerouted behind Aztec Center and the Campus Laboratory School.

Workmen have started to remove the Mall's concrete walkways and took initial steps involved in moving Scripps Cottage.

The cottage, a traditional student gathering place, will eventually be moved to an open area between the West Commons and the women's gymnasium.

While a shaded park-like area is being readied for the cottage, it will remain closed, on the West side of the construction area.

Dr. George A. Koester, San Diego State executive dean, said that the Mall repair would be completed in early December of this year and that library construction would be finished in Summer, 1970.

He said that when the Mall work was finished, pedestrian traffic on its walkways would be resumed.

Traditional walkways leading in front of the Campus Laboratory School, Bookstore and Administration Building will remain closed until completion of the Library.

The master plan called for construction of a broad mall running from the campus' South rim to its center, as the college's major access route. Future building construction was to take place along this mall, gradually pushing the campus perimeter South.

La Presa Junior High Construction Underway

Site development of the new La Presa Junior High School is now under way, according to Dr. Dale Hobson, assistant superintendent, business, La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

The school site is at Leland and St. George streets in Spring Valley. A portion of the playing field is adjacent to the grounds of Kempton Street Elementary School.

Contractor for the grading and other site development is the John Murphy Construction Company of Spring Valley. Benton Engineering, Inc., San Diego, is doing the soil analysis. Site work was bid separately, in line with state building requirements.

The actual construction of the building has been delayed. The school district had to turn down the only bid on construction earlier this month.

Bids for the building work will go out again on August 29, Sept. 5 and Sept. 12. They will be opened on Sept. 19 at 2 p.m.

Initial construction will include 13 general classrooms, an arts and crafts room, music room, homemaking room the boys' and girls' shower and locker rooms, library, administrative unit and the kitchen. Science and industrial arts classes will be housed temporarily in regular classrooms.

Construction of additional classrooms cannot be undertaken until eligibility for additional square footage is established by increased enrollment.

Additional construction will also be dependent on passage of another local school bond issue as the District is no longer bonded to within five percent of bonded capacity and is, therefore, ineligible for further state building aid, Dr. Hobson said.

'Signals Go' For GOP Says Schaefer

San Diego City Councilman Mike Schaefer, a candidate for the U. S. Congress in the 37th district, told the Lemon Grove Republican Women's Club Tuesday that "all signs are go" for Republican victories across the country in November.

"Americans are seeking change," said Schaefer. "They are tired of unfulfilled promises, but even more importantly Americans have become frightened because they cannot walk the streets at night without fear for their safety.

"The greatest nation this world has ever seen cannot tolerate these problems at home and at the same time expect to maintain a position of leadership among nations," said the councilman.

"We cannot ignore the problems of the world," said Schaefer, but at the same time we cannot deal with them effectively until we show that our own nation is in order."

Schaefer said he is confident that Republicans will win at least the 31 seats needed for control of the House of Representatives in the November elections. He said there is talk now that larger gains than first expected will be made in the Senate.

Schaefer, 30, is now serving his second term as a San Diego counciman. At 27 he was the youngest person ever elected to the council in San Diego.

Bob Friend Injured As Swimmers End Season Play

by Scott McGaugh

After starting the summer season well, Carman Ranch's water polo team lost its final two matches of the summer to finish with a 1-3 record.

Against a tough La Mesa squad, Carman Ranch split with the A team losing but with the B team winning. Rick Ingrum did well for the A team along with Rob Morell who turned in a fine performance.

On the B team, Ted Gary, John Krattli, and Mark Hodges all did well. Krattli turned in one of his better performances as goalie for Carman Ranch.

The loss for the A team was a costly one as they were deprived of one of their best men due to an injury.

Bob Friend went out midway through the game with a fractured jaw. A La Mesan was called for a major foul and in disputing the call, he hit Bob in the mouth. Friend was unable to play in the season finale against Coronado.

In the final game against Coronado, Carman Ranch was run out of the pool in an embarrassing 19-1 loss. The B squad also lost 8-7 in overtime.

iWthout Bob Friend the A squad had very little offense with the defense having to carry the burden. The B team made a brilliant comeback late in their game but lost in the five-minute overtime.

Dave Little and Rob Morell both did well in leading Carman Ranch's comeback.

The A team ended its short summer schedule with a 1-3 overall record. The B squad did better, however, in finishing with a 2-2 performance.

Peace Corps Volunteer Explains Liberian Way

Glenn White, a committee man for the youth program of the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club, said at the Aug. 14 meeting that it is that time of year again when the club should start thinking about selling "Trick or Treat' 'bags of candy.

He said the bags, which will sell for about $1, contain 160 pieces of wrapped candy. The club voted to go ahead with the project.

White pointed out that the sales program will be from the first of October until Halloween and the bags may be purchased at various Spring Valley business houses or from members of Spring Valley Kiwanis Club.

Members of the club and visitors, at the Aug. 14 meeting, were presented Olympic pins by president Bob Divine.

Guest speaker at the meeting, was Carl Cheney of El Cajon, who was introduced by Paul Yee, program chairman Cheney, a graduate of Grossmont High School and Stanford University, served for two years with the Peace Corps in Africa, where he taught history.

Speaking of Liberia, Cheney said that country uses the American dollar. He said in Sierra Leone there are five major towns consisting of 2½ million people.

He said about 90 per cent are peasant farmers and that few have schooling. He said the government depends on mining for its economy, mostly diamonds.

Cheney said where he was located the climate is tropical. He said many of the villages are out of water by March. He pointed out that the heavy rains come from May until October and that is when the farmers are busy with their rice corps. On the off seasons the rice is consumed.

Cheney explained that there are 14 different tribes in the Sierra Leone area and that 14 different languages are spoken, with none of the tribesmen understanding the others.

He said it would be impossible to hold general meetings, due to the language barrier, and anyhow there is much antagonism between the tribes. It was further pointed out that the national language of the area, is English as England ruled there from 1808 to 1961, and students learn English at an early age.

Cheney said that Conakrey, just north of Sierra Leone, in 1961, had a poulation of 4,000. Now there are 18,500 due to mining. The area is built up with business sections, churches and a bank.

He said the house where he stayed was modern and even had 24 hour electricity. He said over there you have to hire a house boy to do most of the work.

Also, besides doing the work, the boy is a good news carrier, knowing what is going on in and around the area.

He said many of the boys there earn about $50 a year, and it costs them $30 a year to attend school. He said students are mostly boys.

Cheney said when he arrived in Africa he was told he was to teach African history, a subject of which he was very unfamiliar, but he said he learned a lot in two years.

African history and American history are tied together, he said as the first settlers of Sierra Leone were from the U. S.

"I had to teach African history well enough for the students to pass their tests and to get into the universities," Cheney said. He pointed out that African history is a subject which creates a heavy pressure on the student as well as the teacher.

History text books are almost non-existant in Sierra Leone. He said that in the two years he was there he had to do a lot of research in order to teach the subject and to keep enthusiasm up, for many of the students were discouraged with their country.

Cheney said by teaching the natives he was gaining more than he was giving. He said he came away feeling that by teaching some European history, which took in the past 50 years, and African history, over the past 20 years, that there now is a better feeling between the two continents.

When asked about the Communist infiltration of Africa, Cheney said it is very light.

Family life is important in Saudi Arabia. A brother, for example, continues to concern himself with his sister's welfare even after she has married.
